HOW TO BE AN URBAN BIRDER

On Monday 21 January 2019, our guest speaker is the highly popular broadcaster, writer, naturalist and
photographer DAVID LINDO

In the Recital Room at South Hill Park

“I believe wildlife in urban areas is easy to engage with. All we have to do is open our eyes, ears, hearts and minds – and soon we will be linked into the nature all around us. The sky is my canvas and it’s amazing what you can see when you look up: birds of prey, swirling swifts, migrating thrushes, raucous crows. It’s a beautiful world up there.”

This event is sure to be a sell-out, and places will be limited.

We’re therefore offering our Members the opportunity to book in prior to the event, to guarantee a seat. Members’ cost will remain at £1 (cash at the door as usual), but we will be charging Visitors £5 on this occasion.

TO BOOK IN, PLEASE FILL OUT YOUR NAME/S ON OUR LIST ON THE RECEPTION DESK AT OUR 10th DECEMBER MEETING – or email
Ray Hodges NOW at bfnhsPublicity@outlook.com
